

Murdoch University's Asia Research Centre and the US Consulate in Perth Present

Bush and US Foreign Policy in Asia: Implications for the Region

A Public Seminar
presented by

Professor Robert G Sutter

Monday 12th June 2006

12:30 pm

Senate Room

Murdoch University

All Welcome

Dr. Sutter became a Visiting Professor in the School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University in August 2001. He specialized in Asian and Pacific Affairs and U.S. foreign policy in a U.S. government career of 30 years. He held a variety of analytical and supervisory positions with the Library of Congress for over 20 years, and he also worked with the Central Intelligence Agency, the Department of State, and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. After leaving the Library of Congress where he was for many years the Senior Specialist in International Politics for the Congressional Research Service, Dr. Sutter served for two years as the National Intelligence Officer for East Asia and the Pacific at the U.S. Government's National Intelligence Council.

He received a Ph.D. in History and East Asian Languages from Harvard University. He has held adjunct faculty positions with Georgetown, George Washington, and Johns Hopkins Universities and the University of Virginia. He has published 12 books, including The United States and East Asia: Dynamics and Implications (Rowman and Littlefield) and Chinese Policy Priorities and Their Implications for the United States (Rowman and Littlefield), numerous articles and several hundred government reports dealing with contemporary East Asian and Pacific countries and their relations with the United States.